Freshmen Move-In

Move-in day was exciting and hectic for the new class of 2012. Suitcases, boxes and bins were seen lining the hallways, doors and stairs.

After the draining aspect of moving in was over, excitement was evident as students met in the Caf and socialized during the Annual Presidential Luau.

Long lines were seen in front of the horseshoes as students waited patiently to get checked in and to get their room keys.

The Presidential Luau is a great place for students to meet new friends and make lifelong bonds; as well as to get ready for a great first year at CSU.

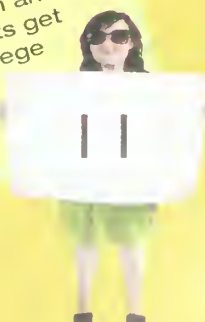

Many students were ready to accept the challenge of saying good-bye to things of the past and awaiting new stories, friends and events as college students.

Upperclassmen helped many of the freshmen and transfer students get boxes, bins and suitcases up stairs and into dorm rooms.

Orientation Leaders helped freshmen and transfer students get adjusted to college life and helped them make new friends.

Freshman Seminar

Freshman Seminar is the steppingstone for students. It helps new students get adjusted to the university in various ways by teaching them how to adapt to campus life, how to adapt to college courses and teaches them the best practices to successfully graduate. Students participate in scavenger hunts to learn the campus, weekly journals to reflect on campus life, and teambuilding activities to build and strengthen their bonds and friendships with their classmates.

Freshman Seminar is a great way for new freshmen as well as transfer students to make and meet lifelong friends. It also allows students to socialize with students who are taking similar courses and who are going through similar issues and ordeals to talk and compare their new life as college students. More than anything, Freshman Seminar helps to make the transition from high school to college very smooth and less chaotic.

Below: Nursing freshman seminar students share their experiences with each other, as they discuss their similarities as freshmen.

Benefits of Freshman Seminar

An easier transition from high school to college life.

Ability to get to know faculty members personally who teach a specific major.

Increased academic success and decreased dropout rate.

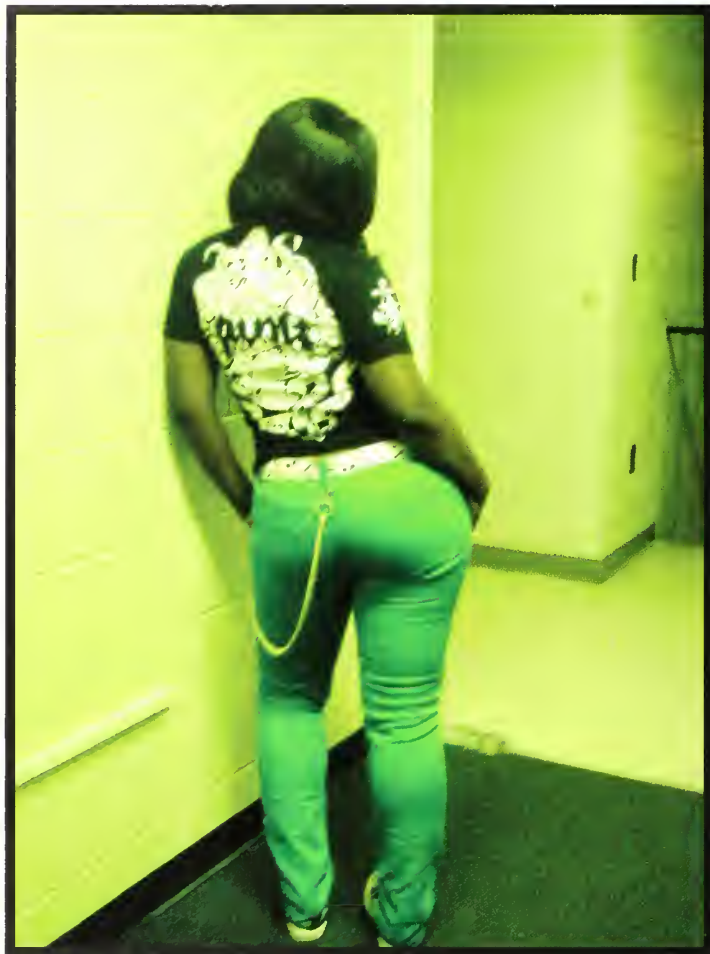

Connection with a group of students who have similar issues and concerns about college life.

Ever heard the phrase less is more? Please do not incorporate so many colors in one outfit! The rainbow outfit on the right can be an eyesore.

Fashion Don't

It's not about what you wear or how much it costs. But it is all about how you express your own style through what you wear. No need to spend a lot of money. There are stores like Ross, Marshalls, and TJ Maxx that offer stylish clothes for low prices. Be sure to check the outlets for name brands at convenient prices.

Accessories are a great way to spicen up an outfit.

Chains, belts, watches and glasses work great for guys, while scarves, hats and jewelry work wonders for ladies.

Going Abroad

Charleston Southern students are expanding their list of great endeavors yearly. This year the English department, psychology department, CSU Concert Singers and the men's basketball team traveled to visit other countries and interact with different cultures: as they spread the love of Jesus Christ. These students participated in an array of events. These events varied from playing basketball and visiting orphanages to attending lectures and performing in cathedrals in Austria.

Students traveled to Poland, Germany, Austria, Prague and China. These remarkable students showed that they can learn while helping others as they promote the goodness of Jesus Christ. Because of the exceptional students that visited and studied abroad, Charleston Southern is expanding its name in a new and great light to these countries that we are assisting. These trips show that CSU has a great family of students who are always represented in a positive manner and can do anything imaginable.

Going Abroad

"God had used basketball to break down walls...and spread God's word." -Tovi Bailey

"It was wonderful to see Christ exalted in another language and culture." -Ashley Williams

"I learned it's not the monuments, museums and other historical sites that capture my fascination, it's seeing 1,000 people singing praise to God in a language I can't understand." - Emily Simmons

"I feel that not only was I an inspiration to the children but I was a tool God used to show the children that there are those that love them and care for them in this world." - Travis Bowe

Intramurals

The intramurals and recreation program, under the direction of Eric Burks, provides ways to enrich the mental, physical, spiritual and social life of students. Recreational activities such as basketball, paintball, bowling, softball, disc golf, ultimate frisbee, soccer and flag football provide opportunities for students to exercise and interact with each other.

The program's biggest rivalry is the flag football game against The Citadel. This year's match up was played at The Citadel. The traveling trophy returned to CSU with a 26-14 victory.

Fall Fest Arrives

Good old-fashioned fun drew the largest crowd of the semester to Fall Fest, which took the place of Hoopapalooza. Chilly weather and Homecoming Weekend combined to make the perfect evening. Many students arrived in costume, some rather elaborate. Activities such as roasting marshmallows, hot dogs and hot chocolate, a jump castle, pumpkin decorating and suds in the field house fountain greeted the Fall Fest crowd. A highlight of the evening was the appearance of the Elevate praise band and The Explorers Club, a band made up of several alumni who are making a name for themselves in the music world.

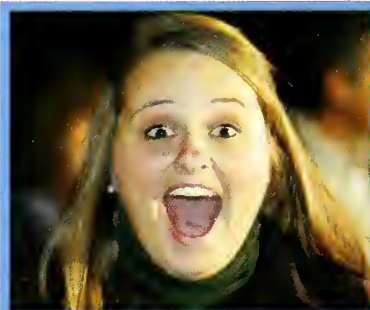

There were some really great costumes at Fall Fest. Costume wearers take a second for a picture.

Convo Wednesdays

Convocation provides a time for the entire university, students and employees, to gather for a time of worship, inspiration and unity. Guest speakers bring an added dimension to campus life.

Many clubs and committees use nonconvo Wednesdays for meetings and events. When students know it's a convo Wednesday, they know it's time to head to the Chapel at 11.

Homecoming

The thrill, the glamour, the excitement. Homecoming 2008 consisted of all these things and more. For once, during halftime, the stands were not empty; they were filled with excited friends and relatives of the homecoming court. This year homecoming was very memorable because of the support that all of the organizations and clubs showed. Everyone put forth their best effort to make Homecoming 2008 worth the anticipation and surprise. From the kickoff karaoke night to the Homecoming Parade and the finale of the crowning of the queen, Homecoming 2008 was a great success. As the homecoming court walked down the field, they commanded the attention of everyone who was in the stands or nearby.

Dramas

Under the direction of Thomas Keating, the CSU Players bring the DRAMA. With productions like, The Diary of Anne Frank and Romeo and Juliet, tragedies and comedies are brought to life. Whether performing in the Black Box theatre or on the Chapel stage, the CSU Players use their acting skills and knowledge of theatre to produce great stage plays. Performers like Chantal Maurice, who played Anne in The Diary of Anne Frank, liked the Black Box because "it was a great idea, and it was such an intimate environment. It felt like I was truly in hiding!"

The production of Romeo and Juliet contained many students who were new to acting in plays. Elias Hightower snagged his first leading role of Romeo. "The experience was great, I learned how to transform into another person. Professor Keating really made the whole experience comfortable and intriguing," says Hightower.

Unlike all of the other plays, The Diary of Anne Frank was produced in the new Black Box Theatre. Risers were placed alongside of the door, and a real live set was placed in front of the audience.

Musicals

The Lyric Theatre is an ensemble in the Horton School of Music. They bring us into the wonderful world of musicals, with productions such as the Wizard of Oz, and The 1940s Radio Hour. Their latest production, The 1940s Radio Hour, was written by Walton Jones, and directed by CSU's own Jennifer Luiken. The cast consisted of students and faculty of CSU and students of Trident Technical College. They were also joined by The Carolina Jazz Big Band.

LaQuavia Alston states, "Performing IS who I am. I feel that without it my life is empty. The reason I do it is because there is no other way of life for me. If I'm not getting ready for a performance or currently in one I feel as if I am neglecting God's purpose for me."

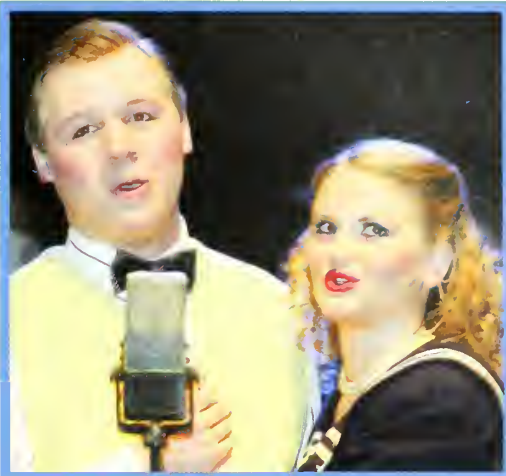

The Lyric Theatre is known for their extensive set designs, costumes and props. As an audience member of any of their productions, it is easy to follow the storylines and get swept away by their singing and acting abilities.

Above: The Lyric Theatre's Spring 2008 production of The Wizard of Oz was filled with high-paced energy, sing-along songs and green people!

Miss CSU 2009

The anticipation of possibly becoming the next Miss CSU to be written down in Charleston Southern's history books is emotional and memorable.

Ranging from freshmen to seniors, 13 ladies gave their all on Nov. 1, 2008. During the course of the show, the ladies competed in events such as swimwear, formal wear and talent. The talent portion of the night was spectacular and ranged from singing and tap dancing to cultural dancing.

As the competition dwindled to an end, the contestants anxiously waited the announcement of the 2009 Miss CSU. Amy Stender was crowned 3rd runner-up. Christi English was crowned 2nd runner-up and received awards for best swimsuit and best talent. Sarah Yates was crowned 1st runner-up. Miss CSU 2008, Miss Ebony Muller, crowned Aimee Connor as the reigning Miss CSU 2009.

Community Service

Acts of service such as clearing yards, painting, building Habitat for Humanity houses, performing puppet shows, face painting and helping provide clean water for other countries are some of the ways students have been involved in our community.

Some projects are performed in the local area. Others impact people far from campus. Students assist with feeding the hungry, providing Christmas gifts for kids who would have no Christmas and performing work for the elderly and those who cannot take care of their homes.

Eric McGough takes a break from baseball and finds that volunteering for Habitat for Humanity can be hard work.

Face painting doesn't take much skill. All that's needed is patience, time and a love for children.

Puppet shows do more than just entertain; they're a great way to teach a lesson or tell a story.

Residence Life

CSU offers many on-campus activities. Whether students are looking for outdoor or indoor fun, there are many activities in which they can participate.

Resident Assistants create memorable experiences for students to help build community within the dorms.

Top 10 On-Campus Activities

1. Sporting Events
2. Intramural Games
3. Feeding the Ducks
4. Elevate
5. Watching movies in Littlejohn Parlor
6. Java City

"One of my favorite parts of living on campus is the convenience of being so close to my classes and being able to have picnics outside."
Lisa Engle

Students get together for a quick picture while celebrating a birthday. These Women's South ladies are a close-knit group of freshmen.

One of the favorite places to hang out is in Littlejohn Parlor. Students get together to study, watch TV, play games, and even play the piano.

Roommates Carlee Wetzler and Brittany McNair enjoy hanging out on campus with friends and inviting people over to their room for movie night.

Russell East ladies enjoy a nice cup of hot chocolate to celebrate the beginning of fall festivities.

What Students Think:

"Living on campus gives you the opportunity to get involved. I stay busy with activities like Campus Outreach and going to football games."
Shelley Garrett, Freshman

"I like living on campus because you're close to all your classes and you get to meet a lot of people outside of your classes."
Lauren Young, Sophomore

"I like that you can just visit people whenever you want; you kinda just run down the hall. Also, the late night study sessions are fun."
Debbie Jett, Junior

"I love sleeping in until the last possible second before heading to class."
Karolayne Nascimento, Senior

See You at the Pole

See You at the Pole is a national event started in 1990 by a youth group at a church. Held the fourth Wednesday of September each year, SYATP is a student-initiated and student-led time of prayer. Students are encouraged to meet at the flagpole at their school to pray for the nation and for their school.

The theme of the September 24th event was "Connect." Students were encouraged to connect with each other and with the Lord. 1 Samuel 3:9, the theme verse, says, "Speak, Lord, for your servant is listening."

Casey Estees was among the students who promoted and joined in prayer for See You at the Pole Day.

"Faith is making yesterday a stepping stone, today a new

7 a.m. comes early for most college students; however, many students gathered around lifting up their prayer requests.

Students join hands to pray for Charleston Southern, the Charleston community and our nation as a whole.

What Students Think:

"It really impressed me that the President of the university came out and truly showed his support."
Ryan Leander

"7 a.m. is really early, but the experience made up for our lack of sleep."
Ally Baker

"To be able to gather around with your fellow classmates is an awesome experience."
Austin Campbell

New This Year

The Wingate by Wyndham hotel, located at the entrance to the campus, held its grand opening ceremonies with a ribbon cutting Oct. 10. In addition to the 97 rooms and nine suites, the hotel features the latest in in-room technology and 2,000 sq. ft. of meeting space. The inn is expected to provide student intern opportunities and generate scholarship money. The Derry Patterson Wingo School of Nursing holds the distinction of having the world's most advanced wireless human patient simulator.

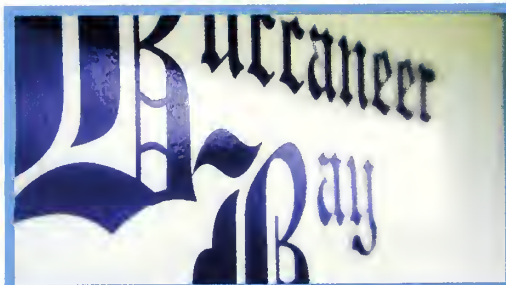

"The hands-on experiences the students will receive in very realistic patient scenarios will provide increased skills, self-confidence and safety," Dr. Tara Hulse, dean of the School of Nursing, said.

A nine-hole disc golf course has been added to campus between the field house and the football field. Eric Burks, director of recreational services, said, "CSU is the only school in the Lowcountry to have it." The sport can even be played at night thanks to glow-in-the-dark discs and gold painting around the basket rims.

The mild climate in the Lowcountry gives students plenty of opportunities to enjoy the outdoors and recreational activities.

Challenges await the serious disc golfer and the beginner alike at the new nine-hole disc golf course around the lake by the field house. Buccaneer Bay is ready for players.

Dr. Tara Hulse, dean of the Derry Patterson Wingo School of Nursing, demonstrates the i-Stan simulator for President Hunter.

Buc Club members, the fundraising arm of the athletic department, sported a new tent for events.

Dignitaries were on hand Oct. 10 for the grand opening and ribbon cutting at the Wingate Inn by Wyndham.

Unique to CSU

Wingate Inn by Wyndham hosted its grand opening ceremony and a ribbon cutting Oct. 10.

The Derry Patterson Wingo School of Nursing becomes the only school of nursing in the Lowcountry to provide instruction on the i-Stan simulator by Meti.

A nine-hole disc golf course is built on campus, between the field house and the football field. Disc golf is an up-and-coming sport in the U.S.

New street signs grace the campus as well with names like Wellness Way, Buc Club Blvd., and Alumni Drive.

Campus Ministries

Campus ministries has a goal to reach, raise and release. They reach college students with the gospel (Romans 1:16). They raise college students in the scripture (2 Timothy 3:16-17), and they release college students to change the world (Matthew 28:18-20).

The midweek worship time, called Elevate, moved to Thursday nights and allowed students a time to praise God and grow in their faith. Elevate seeks to elevate Christ, compassion and commitment.

In addition to Elevate, campus ministries also supports the activities of such groups as Campus Crusade for Christ, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Campus Outreach. Outreach projects and mission trips are an important part of campus ministries. Students serve in the local community through ministries such as Hungry and Convoy of Hope and assist with Catalyst projects. Students also travel throughout the U.S. and to other countries to minister and show the love of Christ.

Elevate has the power to move students and allow them to worship freely together and by themselves. Elevate teaches students how to fellowship through song, praise and believing.

Far Left: Elevate moves students as they worship and connect to God in their own way.

Below: The Elevate Band praises through their lively beats and their beautiful voices, while continuing to move the crowd.

Ministry focus

Fall focus is based on A Call to Die by David Nasser -- dying to self.

Spring's focus is: a challenge to go. Students are challenged to go out and spread the love of Jesus.

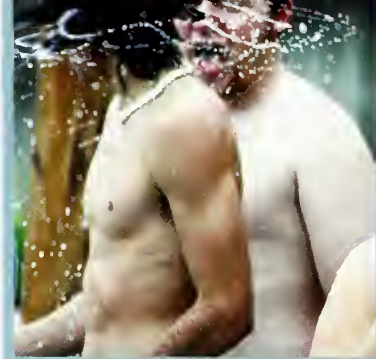

Over the past year, more than 200 students and employees took the gospel message to 11 countries and six states.

Whirlin' Waters

Wannamaker County Park, about a mile from campus, features the 15-acre Whirlin' Waters Adventure Waterpark. For the first time, CSU rented out the waterpark as part of the Orientation for new students. Bad weather threatened to dim the attendance at the event, but the weather cleared just in time, and students had a blast riding the waves.

"I loved going to Whirlin' Waters. I think we should do this every year. It was a great way to start the year."
Amber Wyatt

"Going down the water slides was one of my favorite things to do while at the waterpark."
Ashley Tobin

"The slides were the coolest thing since Dr. Pepper!!"
Lee Davis

"I loved all the water slides! They were so much fun. I wish the weather would have been a little better."

10 things to do under 10 dollars

As a college student, money can be tight; luckily, we have found a way to have fun without going over budget. We have compiled a list of student's top 10 favorite things to do in Charleston under 10 dollars. All of these fun activities are conveniently within miles from the school. These are all fun things to do with a group of people or even by yourself.

1. Shag Dancing
2. The Beach
3. The Movies
4. Carolina Ice Palace
5. Waterfront Park
6. Bowling
7. Frankie's Fun Park
8. Littlejohn Parlor
9. Charleston County Parks
10. Waffle House

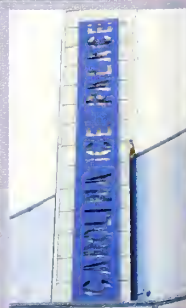

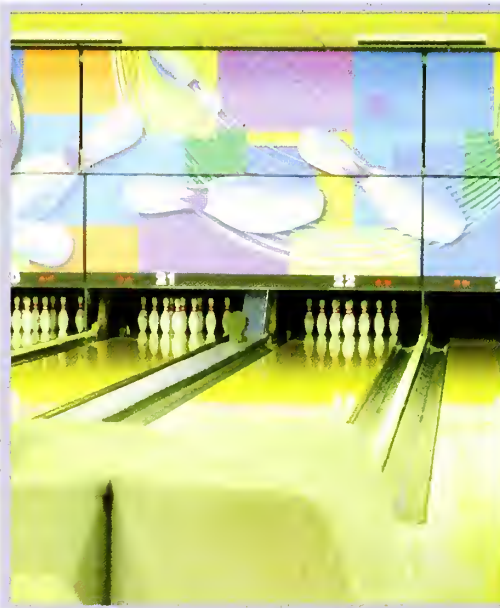

Many students enjoy hanging out in Littlejohn Parlor and the other dorm lounges. These offer comfy couches and large flat screen TVs.

Frankie's Fun Park allows students to practice their batting skills, go-kart driving, and golfing skills.

One popular movie theatre is the Movies 8 Oakbrook on Ladson Road. The movie costs $4.75 for new releases. Can't beat that!

Dorchester Lanes in Summerville, offers $1 games and $1 shoe rental on Tuesdays. Other days bowling costs about $6.

The Charleston County Parks cost $1 for a variety of entertainment. One winter activity held at the James Island County Park is the Festival of Lights.

Waffle House is the number one favorite place to eat and study late. As CSU's neighbor, it hosts many hungry students pulling all nighters.

Top Four Things To Do:

One of the most popular activities in the Charleston area is to go shag dancing. One local favorite shag club is JB Pivots.

There are three beaches in the Charleston area, Folly Beach, Sullivan's Island, and Isle of Palms. These offer free entertainment for the surfers, sun soakers, and sand sculptors.

The Carolina Ice Palace offers "Ladies Night" on Wednesdays. This night is free for all the ladies. Otherwise, the cost is $6 with a college ID.

Waterfront Park is located in the downtown Charleston area. The swings and the fountains are good places to go hangout with friends.

Guard
Freshman

"I love to play basketball. I feel free when I am playing. I can zone out and just let go of everything, stress, worries, cares and just have fun!"

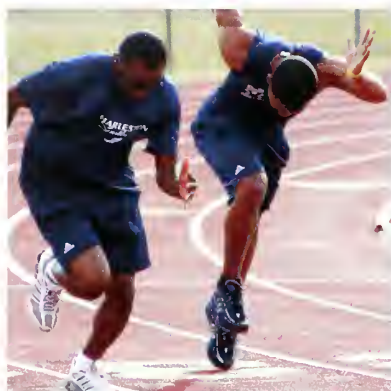

- Michael Rhue has won conference for four years.

- In 2008, four students went to regionals and Levi Brooks advanced to nationals.

- Javon Young broke school record and CSU's indoor 60m dash record.

"Psychology is my passion, and when you do what you love you'll do really well with it because you'll want to put in the effort to be the best at it."

Jill McEntee

"One aspect of psychology includes exploring the motivation of different types of individuals throughout life. That aspect reflects my desire to understand everyone, despite our backgrounds, in an effort to help them any way possible."

Jenise Larrae

"I love being a psychology major; it is so interesting. Knowing and understanding why people act the way they do is beneficial because then you can help them. I want to be a marriage and family counselor one day."

Joselyn Culver

"My plans for the future are to bring my education, experience, passions and gifts together to work for God."

Kanisha Pitt

"I chose to major in psychology because I wanted to figure out how people worked. This major gives me an insight into my life and understanding about others, while giving me the opportunity to help others."

While making a community safe, you are also securing individuals in the area by any means necessary. It reflects me because I live to secure others and help out in any way that I can."

Nate Garles

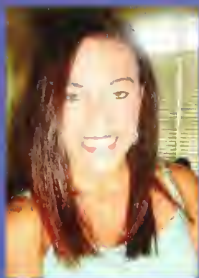

"I believe in helping others, therefore, a potential career in the criminal justice system provides a lot of opportunities to be of service to others."
Carey Wilson

"I decided on this major because it screams out who I am as a person. I strive to make the everchanging world we live in a better place to live. My major doesn't define me as an individual; it only reflects my concerns, interests, and career goals within this field. I just hope that I can reflect on it as much as it has reflected on me."

selection of my business major reflects me as a person by showing that I am focused on reaching my goals, determined and driven."

Chris Siegler

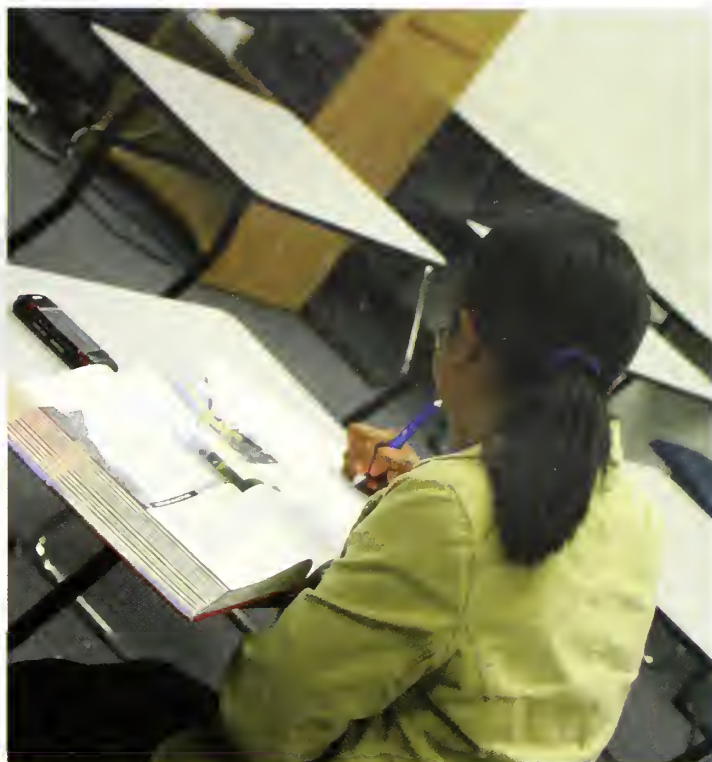

"My business major reflects me as a person because business is about serving people, and I have a heart for serving others. I believe that the true goal of business should be to meet the customer's needs, and as a Christian I think I should be focused on meeting those same needs."

Nick Abercrombie

"I am learning the essential skills and operations in business, but I am also being challenged to engage in ethical business practices from a Christian perspective."

Garrett Abel

"I decided to major in business because I have a passion to lead. I want to use my skills to teach others how to have a successful life."

"This major focuses on becoming competent, caring and committed educators. I am dedicated to being the best person I can be so that I can one day be a positive influence for my students. I want children to know that they can do anything they put their minds to."

Christina Baldwin

"I want to become the teacher that a student appreciates for the time spent, love shown and attention received to help them succeed."

Sarah Flowers

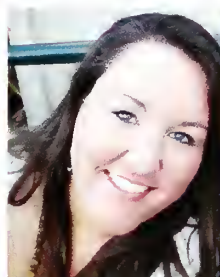

"I have always felt led to become a teacher because I wanted to make a difference in someone's life...I want to show my love of the game of soccer to my players and help them develop to their fullest potential."

Staci Ulichnie

"Teaching is a passion not just a profession. Being a teacher is a huge part of the person that I am...being an education major has become the essence of me!"

Danielle Martin

"I use the word teacher to describe me as a person. Education reflects me by giving me the opportunity to be in a profession that I love and teach children lessons that they will use for the rest of their lives."

"It's amazing how God was so creative in creating our bodies. The body is a lot smarter than what we give it credit for."

Adria

"I hope to have a successful career
where I feel that I accomplished something on a day-to-day basis."

Sally McRae

"My nursing major reflects me because it makes me more in tune to health situations around me."

Megan Davis

"My nursing major reflects me because it shows my personality...I love the medical field as a whole. I can't wait to be a nurse."

Jessica Derricott

"I really enjoy our clinicals; I love direct patient care, and it really helps me to make application about what I have been learning in class."

CSU Honors Program Mission Statement

promote academic excellence through one-on-one and small group instruction

provide teamwork, leadership and character building situations in and out of the classroom

supplement traditional classroom learning with diverse cultural and social experiences

prepare students for professional life through advanced research and internship opportunities

"The honors program has allowed me to have a better academic experience by encouraging me to excel in all of my classes."

Jordan Pace

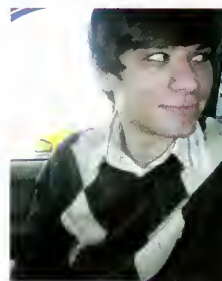

"I'm an extreme overachiever and perfectionist, so being in the honors program was a good fit for me. I'm always the one to search for answers and look for new information, so criminal justice seemed to fit me perfectly...I love my major and am so excited to be able to pursue a career in this field."

Ashleigh Newell

"Being in the honors program helps me push myself to do my best in all that I do."

Justin Irvin

"Being in the honors program allows me to reach my full potential as a college student, and it broadens my knowledge base."

4th Annual Photography Contest

This year we decided to change the photo contest up a bit. More than 200 students joined the Photography Contest group on Facebook. Students uploaded their photos, and the students voted on the photo they liked the best. More than 70 photos were entered into the contest. There were two categories: natural photography and Photoshopped photography. The top five winners from each category got a spot for their photo in the yearbook. Congratulations to the winners.

Natural Contest

Winners:

First Place: Stephanie Snider

Second Place: Megan Bruner

Third Place: Ryan Leander

Fourth Place: Virginia River

Fifth Place: Matthew Harrington

Fifth Place: Carlee Wetzler

Photoshopped Contest

Winners:

First Place: Erin Hayes

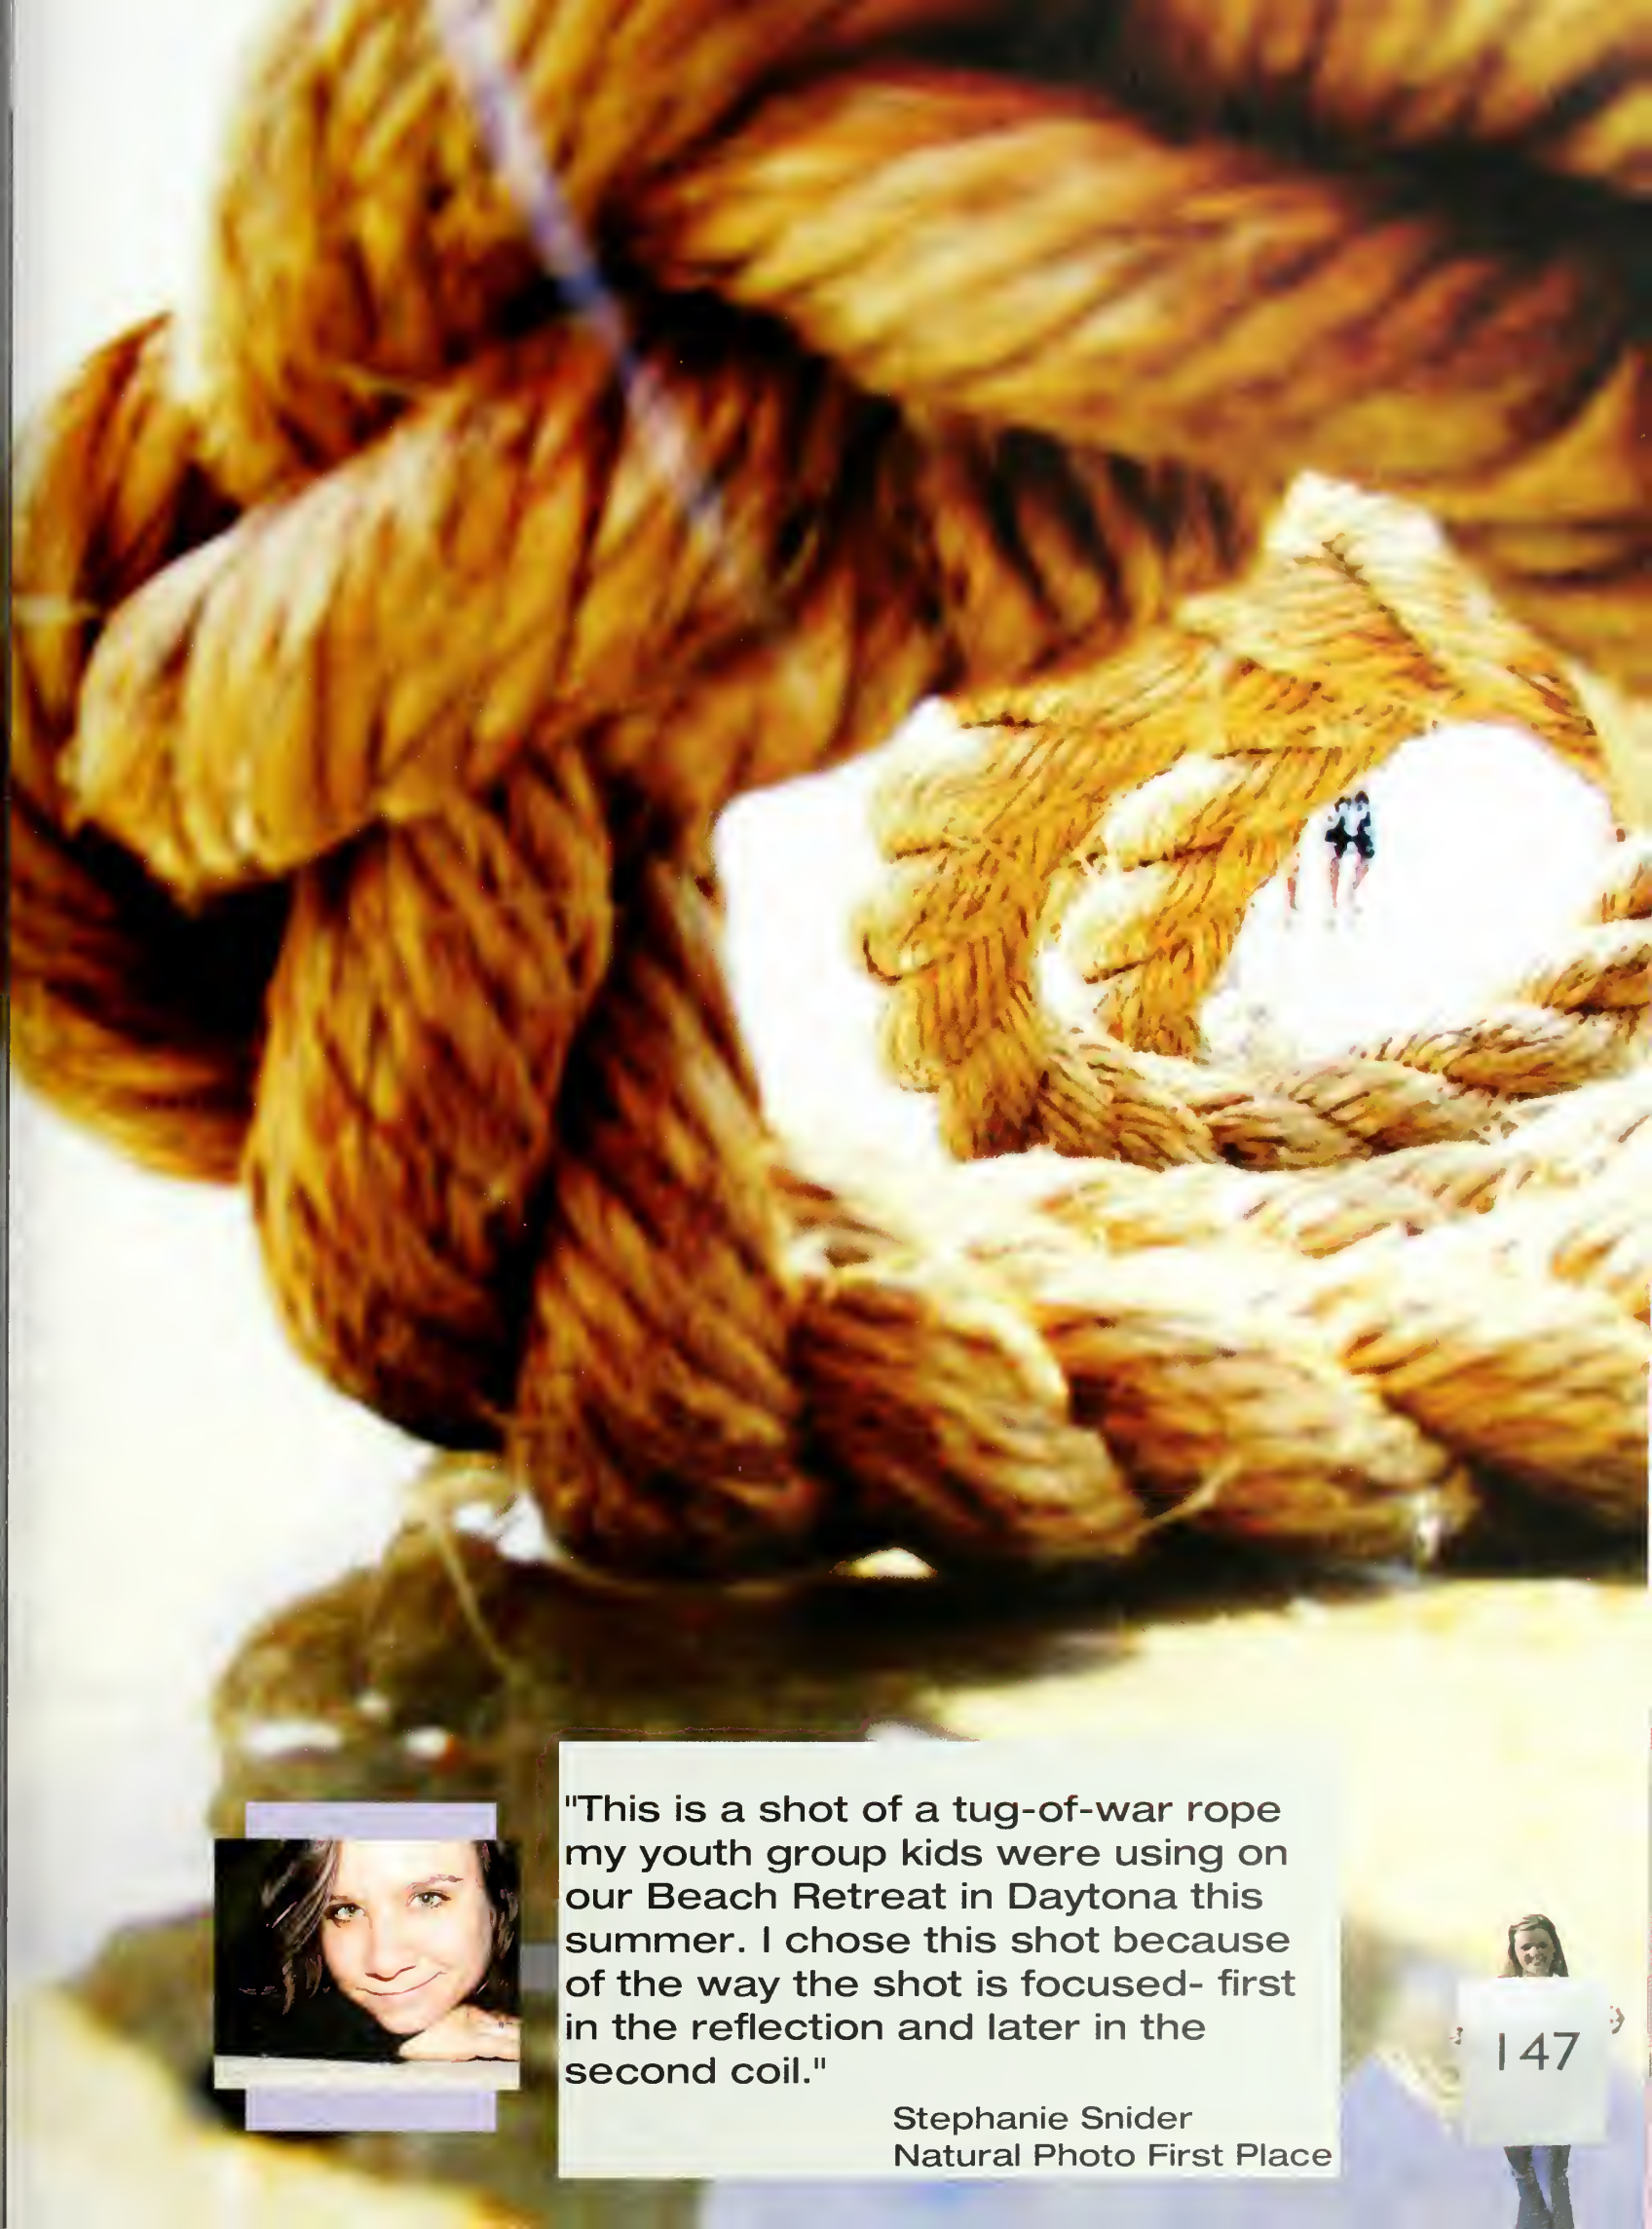

Second Place: Erin Hayes

Third Place: Dorothy Whitley

Fourth Place: Dorothy Whitley

Fifth Place: Carolyn Mills

"This is a shot of a tug-of-war rope my youth group kids were using on our Beach Retreat in Daytona this summer. I chose this shot because of the way the shot is focused- first in the reflection and later in the second coil."

Stephanie Snider

Natural Photography

"This one was taken in the Austrian Alps. I was on a mountain overlooking Innsbruck. I really like the sunlight in this. It was just a snapshot, and it turned out really great."

Megan Bruner
Second Place

"I like it because of the lighting of the sun off the water, the way the waves break, the bird, the fishing boat, and of course, the cool surfer dude."

Ryan Leander
Third Place

"I really like this picture because I think the clouds and different colors were captured just right. It also reminds me that God is my refuge in time of storms."

Virginia Holliday
Fourth Place

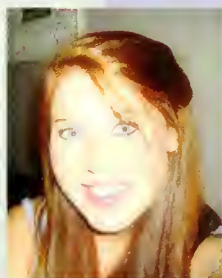

"After much debate Teri and I decided that we should go with this picture because it is one of our favorites."

Matt Harrington
Fifth Place

"I took this photo over the summer while I was in California for my brother's wedding. This is on a beach in Malibu; I love this so much because the color of the water is beautiful and the birds on the right and surfer on the left bring a nice balance!"

Carlee Wetzler
Fifth Place

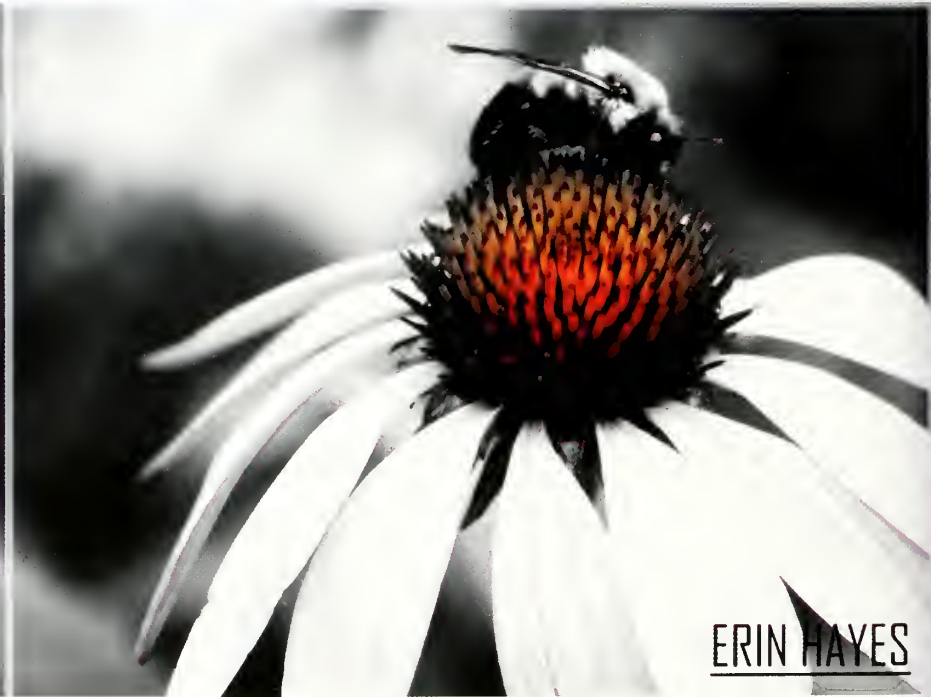

"I took the building picture in downtown Charleston. I really like close up pictures, and the flower picture really seems to capture the bee, and the flower just looked cool."

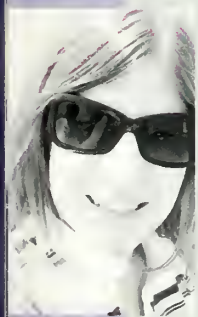

Erin Hayes
First and Second Place

Photoshopped Photography

"Sunrises are one of my favorite things to capture in photography, and I just loved the contrast between the clouds and the sun in this picture. In the fawn photo, I loved how the fawn turned and looked right at me. I also liked the innocence it seems to portray. "

Dorothy Whitley
Third and Fourth Place

"I took this over the summer while I was sorting through my old dance shoes. I really like the contrast and glow in this photo."

Carolyn Mills
